Abstract

This collection documents the development of the Park Avenue Hospital in Rochester, NY, its relocation from downtown Rochester to the suburb of Greece (where it was renamed Park Ridge Hospital), its growth there, and its subsequent merger with St. Mary’s Hospital to create the Unity Health System. Older materials documenting the Park Avenue Hospital also include information pertaining to the Park Avenue Hospital School of Nursing. The bulk of the collection consists of materials generated by the hospital administration and Corporate Communications Department: annual reports, meeting minutes, news releases, news clippings, newsletters, working files created by employees, and printed material used for advertising and public relations. A small amount of photographic material is found throughout the collection.
Historical Note

Park Avenue Hospital opened in 1907 as a 40-bed private hospital owned and operated by Dr. Charles Barber. The three-story brick building, located at 789 Park Avenue in the city of Rochester, New York had been constructed by Dr. John F.W. Whitbeck in 1894. Facing financial losses, Dr. Whitbeck closed the hospital in 1904 and rented the property to a private boys’ school for three years before it was purchased and remodeled by Dr. Barber.

In 1921, the Park Avenue Clinical Hospital was incorporated as a non-profit general hospital. Dr. Barber continued to maintain a professional office at the hospital and served as the first Chairman of the Board of Directors. The name was shortened in 1926 to Park Avenue Hospital, Inc.

From 1908 to 1948, Park Avenue Hospital was home to a nursing education program. The school was chartered by the State of New York in 1908 as the Park Avenue Training School for Nurses. It was later known as the Park Avenue Clinical School for Nurses and finally the Park Avenue Hospital School of Nursing. During World War II the School of Nursing prepared young women to enter the United States Cadet Nurse Corps, helping to alleviate the critical shortage of nurses during the war. In 1949, the Park Avenue Hospital School of Nursing merged with Rochester General Hospital’s nursing school.

The consolidation of nursing schools was intended to be the first step towards a complete merger between Park Avenue Hospital and Rochester General. Even before the post-World War II economic boom, Rochester’s suburban population was expanding beyond the center of the city, where existing community hospitals were concentrated. The non-profit Rochester Hospital Fund determined that a new hospital was needed to serve the north side of the city and the northern suburbs extending between downtown Rochester and the Lake Ontario shore. Due to administrative disagreements, Park Avenue withdrew in 1951 from the projected “North Park Hospital” and Rochester General Hospital went on alone to construct a new hospital on Portland Avenue.

By the 1960s, changing demographics spurred by the post-World War II economic boom made it evident that a hospital was greatly needed on the west side of Monroe County. This economically driven population shift, combined with an inability to physically expand in its original location, led to the relocation of the Park Avenue Hospital to a new campus constructed on a parcel of farmland in the town of Greece, NY. The new hospital, now renamed Park Ridge Hospital, opened in 1975.

The expanded physical footprint provided by the hospital’s relocation allowed it to perform more procedures as well as offer an expanded range of services to the community, ranging from chemical dependency and mental health programs to child care and long term care for the elderly. By the early 1990s, it became evident that smaller-capacity hospitals would have a difficult time surviving in the changing healthcare environment. In 1997, Park Ridge Hospital and St. Mary’s Hospital merged to form Unity Health System, creating a system offering a wide range of services to the Rochester community. Park Ridge Hospital kept its name until 2006, when it changed to Unity Hospital. Subsequent development of healthcare reform legislation in the late 2000’s gave rise to further economic changes, resulting in a merger between Unity Health System and Rochester General Health System in 2014 to form Rochester Regional Health, a multi-hospital network.
Arrangement

The collection has been arranged in five record groups: I. Institutional history, II. Clinical, III. Nursing, IV. Non-clinical, and V. Park Ridge Hospital/Unity Health System Foundation.

Each record group is further divided into subgroups and series.

Series 1. Newsletters, 1943-2007  3.8 Linear feet 9 document boxes

Scope and Contents

The series includes newsletters published by the Corporate Communications Department from the 1970s through 2007, with the bulk of the series consisting of the two long-running official Park Ridge newsletters, Park Bench and Prism. Subseries a. P.A.H. Chatterer, 1943-1944  1 folder
Subseries b. Park Pennant, August 15, 1953 and April 29, 1954  1 folder

Scope and Contents

Two issues: Vol. I, No. 5 (August 15, 1953) and Vol. II, No. 4 (April 29, 1954). Unclear how many issues of The Park Pennant were published in total. The content includes news from the Board of Directors, Auxiliary, and Alumnae of the nursing school, as well as personal news from the hospital staff (birthdays, anniversaries, vacations, family news). The two issues present also include a "Doctor of the Month" feature devoted to one physician's career. The doctors profiled are Dr. Charles Reitz and Dr. Robert J. Campbell.
Processing Information

Before processing, the collection included an additional collection of Park Bench issues that had been photocopied in reduced size to fit on letter size paper and stored in a three ring binder. These photocopies were mostly discarded, except that, when two original copies of an issue were not available for an issue, a photocopy was retained to make up a total of two copies. These photocopies appeared to be in good condition and were not recopied.

Historical Note

Park Bench served as the official newsletter of the Park Avenue Hospital, Park Ridge Hospital, and Park Ridge Nursing Home. By 1973, it was being used as a vehicle for public relations as well as internal employee communication. Issues were mailed to local news media, the Board of Directors, other local health organizations, and retirees, as well as current hospital employees. In June 1974, the newsletter masthead began to identify the Development Department as the publisher, amended the next month to become the Department of Corporate Communication. By 1980, the newsletter was published by the Department of Public Relations.

It is not clear when Park Bench began publication, but the earliest issue in this collection (December 1971) does not appear to be the first.

Between 1971 and 1973, the newsletter was published 6 times each year on 8.5" x 11" paper with a stapled binding. In 1974, Park Bench began publishing monthly. In June 1974 the newsletter changed to a larger bifold format, stating that the change was made in anticipation of a greater volume of news and information to share with employees as the hospital moved to its new campus in Greece.

In February 1980, Park Bench ceased publication and was replaced by a new hospital newsletter, Prism.

Historical Note

Two different publications were put out by the Park Avenue/Park Ridge hospitals under the name Prism. The original Prism was a quarterly magazine published by Park Avenue Hospital’s Department of Development for a brief period in the early 1970s. It’s purpose was to chronicle the construction of the new Park Ridge Hospital campus in Greece, and potentially to serve as an ongoing informational newsletter to publicize the new hospital’s programs. However, the publication was allowed to lapse.

In February of 1980, the Public Relations Office of Park Ridge Hospital and Park Ridge Nursing home rebranded its existing employee and community newsletter, called Park Bench, and chose to revive the name of Prism for the new publication. The name was chosen, as explained in the inaugural February 1980 issue, to describe the publication’s purpose in gathering and disseminating news across the entire spectrum of separate corporations that made up the increasingly complex organization.

Scope and Contents

The series includes five issues of the original Prism magazine, running from Winter/Spring 1973 to Spring 1974. The bulk of the series consists of the later, revived Prism staff newsletter, which ran from February 1980 through 1996. Prism was typically published on a monthly basis, with occasional combined monthly issues or special editions. Special editions included: "At Issue: A Supplement Profiling Length of Stay (December 1992)" and "Ice Storm 1991" (published in April 1991, describing how Park Ridge employees coped with Rochester’s devastating March 1991 ice storm).

Prism also included separate newsletters from the corporations that made up the Park Ridge Health System, which appeared as two page inserts. Each of these was published no more than quarterly, and they appeared in rotating issues throughout the year. Regular inserts included: "Focus: News from Park Ridge Human Resources," "Quest for Quality," "Recovery: News from Park Ridge Chemical Dependency," "The Probe: News from Western Monroe Mental Health Center," "Outlook: News from Park Ridge Mental Health Center," "Crossroads: News from Park Ridge Long Term Care," and "Cornerstone: News from Park Ridge Foundation."

Between 1980-1990, each May issue of Prism appears to have been devoted to the hospital’s annual report. This issue is missing for the years 1983-1988. In 1989, the full year was published on a bimonthly basis plus an additional standalone issue for July. The May/June 1989 issue is missing. The year 1993 is missing issues for July and August. For the year 1996, we have an additional August issue in a smaller format and a June “Extra Edition” but November is missing.
Original copies of the September and October 2004 issues and the 2007 issues sustained water damage prior to processing. These issues were photocopied and the originals were discarded.

Historical Note

The first issue of The Unifier was published for the week of March 24, 1997. This bi-weekly newsletter served as the employee bulletin for all employees and volunteers of the newly formed Unity Health System (in March-April 1997 the newsletter referred to the organization as the St. Mary’s-Park Ridge Health System). The Unifier was produced by Unity Health System’s Corporate Communications Department. It ran through July 2002, when it was rebranded as u&i news.

The first issue of u&i news appeared August 8, 2002. It continued the bi-weekly publication schedule established by the Unifier.

Scope and Contents

The series contains a full run of the newsletter from 1997-2003, and the first six months of 2004. Also present are the September and October issues of 2004 and the January through April issues of 2007. In addition, the series contains a small amount of correspondence and other documents related to publication of the newsletter from about 1998-2003.

Subseries f. Unit Dose, 1997-2000, 2004, 2006 0.2 Linear feet 0.5 document box

Historical Note

This publication was distributed to Unity Health System's medical and dental staff. It continued an existing newsletter with the same title published at St. Mary's Hospital prior to the merger with Park Ridge Health System.

Scope and Contents

The series contains only scattered issues across the date range, with the most complete year being 1998 (9 monthly issues). Unit Dose appears to have been published at least 6 times per year, but the

Scope and Contents

This series contains brief news releases prepared for the media by the Department of Corporate Communications. Many of the releases also contain an attached media distribution form listing the newspapers, television stations, radio stations, and other media outlets who received a copy.

Arrangement

The news releases are arranged chronologically by year, and then further arranged topically following the original order of the records. Prior to processing, the news releases were housed in three-ring binders with one binder for each year. Within each yearly binder, the releases were divided into categories using binder tabs. Typically, the categories were: Chemical Dependency, Child Care, Foundation, Park...
Guide to the Park Avenue/Park Ridge/Unity Hospital Records  2017.00

Scope and Contents

Clippings from newspaper, magazines, and other periodicals. Most clippings contain mentions of Park Ridge Hospital/Unity Health System, while a smaller number describe general healthcare issues. The bulk of the clippings were taken from Rochester-area newspapers, mainly the Democrat & Chronicle, the Times-Union, and the Greece Post.

Processing Information

All clippings, with the exception of oversized clippings, were copied onto standard 8.5”x 11” office paper and the original newsprints were discarded. Clippings that were housed in binders were removed from the binders and housed in archival folders.

Arrangement

All of the clippings are arranged chronologically. Clippings from the 1963-1982 date range were originally housed loose in file folders arranged by year. Clippings from the 1993-1999 date range were mounted on scrapbook pages housed in three-ring binders, and these clippings were divided according to the corporation or program within the Park Ridge Health System that they pertained to (i.e., for 1997 the divisions were: Auxiliary, Child Care Center, Park Ridge Chemical Dependency, Foundation, Park Ridge Health System, Hospital, Long Term Care, Mental Health, PRH, Inc., Health Connection, and "Other Items of Interest"). The arrangement is similar, but not exactly standard, for each year in this range.

Series 8. Corporate Communications staff working files, 1991-1999  2.9 Linear feet 7 document boxes

Scope and Contents

This series comprises two distinct sets of files, with original folder labels written in two different hands. Because both sets of files were found located together in the same filing cabinet prior to processing, and both appear to pertain to Corporate Communications work, they were kept together as a series.

Arrangement

Original order of the files had been lost, although the handwriting indicated two distinct sets of files. We chose to arrange each subseries alphabetically. Folder titles reflect the original folder titles, with some titles expanded to a fuller form of the phrase for clarification (e.g., “Long Term Care” instead of “LTC.”) Titles were supplied when the original was missing or unclear.

Subseries a. Working files from St. Mary's Hospital Corporate Communications staff 1991-1999  1.3 Linear feet 3 document boxes

Scope and Contents

Covering the time period when St. Mary’s and Park Ridge merged to form Unity Health System, these files appear to have been created by staff originally working in the Public Affairs Office at St. Mary’s who later became part of the Unity’s Corporate Communications staff. Employees named in the files include Margy Riemer, Patricia Quinn, Dee Ann Gosda, and Priscilla Young.

Materials in this series largely consist of meeting notes, memoranda, forms, draft versions of printed materials. There are also a small number of photographs and objects, such as printed magnets and buttons. Subject matter includes marketing and promotion activities (particularly for Wellstream and the Women's Health Center), revision of existing patient information guides for Park Ridge and St. Mary’s to reflect the new Unity Health System identity, and internal communications regarding situations where communication of patient information was to be restricted (particularly for patients who were inmates of the Monroe County Jail and involved in criminal cases of interest to the news media).
The bulk of the material dates from 1998-1999 with a smaller amount of material as early as 1991.

Subseries b. Corporate Communications printed material files, 1985-1999   1.7 Linear feet 4 document boxes

Scope and Contents

This subseries contains printed materials that appear to have been kept on hand by the Park Ridge Hospital/Unity Health System Corporate Communications Department for reference or distribution. Folder titles are taken from the original folders. Some of these materials are duplicated elsewhere in the collection, particularly Series 9.

Series 9. Printed material, circa 1990s   15.2 Linear feet 33 document boxes, 1 flat storage box

Scope and Contents

This series contains samples of printed material created by the Corporate Communications Department for informational and promotional purposes. Many of the items have accompanying documentation, such as the job request form (showing which department or organization within the health system the work was created for, contact information of staff, quantity requested, date of request and deadline for the project), along with price quotes and correspondence from local print shops who performed the work, brief notes, and other documentation generated during the routine process of creating the materials.

The content covers all departments and activities of Park Ridge Hospital and Unity Health System, including events, opening of new centers and services, announcements on the arrival of new doctors at practices, patient surveys, newsletters, annual reports, and informational materials on health issues and conditions.

The bulk of the material dates from the 1990s, with a smaller amount of material from the 1980s and early 2000s.
Formats in this series include brochures, leaflets, postcards, posters, and mailers. Also included are stationery created for departments throughout the health system: samples of letterhead, business cards, envelopes, and greeting cards.

Because these printed materials were created for the use of other departments, other series within the collection may contain similar material or duplicates of the same material.

Arrangement

The materials that comprise this series were found in two different circumstances: some materials were gathered loosely into boxes with no apparent original order. These have been arranged either chronologically or topically when possible.

Other materials were originally housed in clear plastic pockets gathered in three-ring binders. Original order in these binders was not always clear. Some binders were arranged chronologically across all departments and topics, while other binders divided the materials according to requesting area. At this point, the materials found in binders remain in their original order.
