Historical Note

During the first half of the 20th century, the community of Newark in Wayne County, New York was served by two small private hospitals of approximately 30 beds each: the Newark Hospital, opened in 1921 by Dr. George D. York and his son Edwin Whittier York, and the Barber Hospital in nearby Lyons. By 1945 both hospitals were owned by Dr. John Carmer.

In February 1952, the chairman of the Newark Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee to investigate the possibility of establishing a new, larger municipal hospital. The committee found a new hospital was needed and began the work of organizing and fundraising. Dr. Carmer sold his Newark Hospital in 1953 to a group of 14 doctors, who kept it operating until the new hospital was ready to open.

Ralph S. Smith served as chairman of the investigating committee and later as chairman of the fundraising foundation. Over the next several years, Smith's leadership moved the project to its completion. Newark-Wayne Community Hospital opened officially on April 4, 1957. The hospital was incorporated as a not-for-profit institution governed by a volunteer board of physicians and leading citizens, and Smith was the board's first president.

Newark-Wayne Community Hospital in 1957 consisted of 55 adult beds, four pediatric beds, and 14 in the nursery. Additionally, the hospital offered an x-ray department, complete laboratory, two general and orthopedic operating rooms, recovery room, emergency department and various departments, including Pathology, Hematology, Chemistry, Bacteriology, and the morgue.

From the 1950s through the 1990s, this small rural hospital evolved into a state-of-the-art medical facility typically found only in large urban centers.

Mrs. Helen DeLea was appointed the first Hospital Administrator, Mrs. Blanche Martyn as the Nursing Director, and Mrs. Robert Hamilton as the first Dietician. Mrs. Sophie Zeigler replaced Mrs. Martyn as Nursing Director in late 1957. In 1964, she succeeded Mrs. DeLea as Hospital Administrator and held this position for the next 20 years. Mr. Lester J. "Bud" Danehy was the next Hospital Administrator, from July 1985 until his retirement in 1997.

The hospital expanded to meet the needs of the community. It was first accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals in 1959. In July 1961 a new medical and pediatric wing was completed, increasing bed capacity to 91.

The next major addition to the hospital, the West Wing, was completed in 1973. This expansion more than doubled bed capacity to 234. Over the next decade, a medical office building and mental health unit were constructed, and internal renovations to the hospital updated programs with emphasis on clinics, ambulatory surgery, and adult health care.

The Newark-Wayne Community Hospital Foundation was founded in 1988 with the responsibility to develop gifts and bequests to carry out the health care mission of the hospital. With support from the Foundation, the Adult Day Care Program and the Mental Health Inpatient Facility began in 1990.
The early 1990s were a period of great expansion, culminating in the opening of the 160-bed residential care facility, the DeMay Living Center, in 1994.

The changing landscape of the health care industry in the 1990s prompted continual updating of procedures and technology to meet the growing demand for quality health care. Among the challenges the institution met were delivering health care and disseminating health care information to seasonal migrant laborers living in the agricultural area, attracting and retaining staff in a rural community, and solving a critical nursing shortage.

In 1998, Newark-Wayne Community Hospital merged with Myers Community Hospital under the ViaHealth System of Rochester, becoming ViaHealth of Wayne. In 2008, ViaHealth became the Rochester General Health System. In 2014, the Rochester General and Unity Health systems merged to form Rochester Regional Health.

In 2019, Newark-Wayne Community Hospital operates as a 120-bed hospital, offering services including cardiology, obstetrics and gynecology, orthopaedics, pulmonary care, and a telemedicine program. The hospital has a renovated birthing center and emergency department. Newark-Wayne is a New York State-designated Stroke Center, a NICHE (Nurses Improving Care for Health System Elders) Examplar hospital, and a recent recipient of the WHO Baby-Friendly designation. Rehabilitative and long-term care services continue to be offered by the DeMay Living Center.

These reports reflect the entire health system, with Newark-Wayne Community Hospital being one affiliate.

Scope and Contents
This series contains records produced by the individual, non-clinical departments of the hospital. At present, records are only available from the Community Relations department.

a. Community Relations Department, 1977-2012  18 document boxes

i. Correspondence, 1982-1984

Scope and Contents

Includes letters from members of the local community and other external sources and internal memos. Most correspondence is addressed to or from Vivian Buisch, Community Relations Director. Arrangement preserves the original order, which filed the correspondence chronologically as incoming letters, outgoing letters, incoming memos, and outgoing memos. Topics include outreach events (such as the hospital's participation in the Wayne County Fair), communications with the media, relationships with local businesses, and management issues for the department.

ii. Informational news clippings, 1977-1985

Scope and Contents

These clippings were collected by the Community Relations Department, presumably as a reference for current events in the healthcare field. They do not feature news about Newark Wayne Community Hospital. Topics include Medicaid/Medicare cost cutting, a nursing shortage, and the closure of Bethesda Community Hospital in Cornell, NY. A small amount of ephemera is included.

iii. Newsletters, 1977-1996

Scope and Contents
Newsletters produced by the Community Relations Department for internal audiences (employees, patients) and for the wider Wayne County community.

The Chromosome, 1979-1982

Scope and Contents

Issues present in the collection are:

1979: March-December

1980: Four issues: March, May, July, October

1981: Seven issues: January, February, April, July/August, September/October, November, December

1982: Four issues: March, April, May/June, July/August

Historical note

The Chromosome began publication in February 1979 (the first issue is missing). It was originally a monthly publication of the Personnel Department, titled the N-W-Chromosome. By September 1979, the title had been shortened to The Chromosome, the publication schedule was bi-monthly, and it was produced by the Community Relations Department as "The Employee Publication of Newark-Wayne Community Hospital." The publication schedule varied over the years between monthly and bi-monthly; it is not clear how many issues were published each year between 1980-1982.

Communique, December 1977-February 1986

Historical note

A newsletter for hospital employees. First issue was published in November 1986, with no name. A naming contest was offered in this issue, and the winning name (contributed by Marilyn Miraglia, an R.N.) was announced in the December issue. Publication schedule was inconsistent; it varied between quarterly, bi-monthly, and monthly.

Miscellaneous newsletters, 1988-1996

Scope and Contents

Titles included here are: Critical Response, The Doctor's Office, Helping Hands (a newsletter for auxilians and volunteers), Hospital Update, Medical Staff Update (published for physicians and their office staff), and Newsbreak.

Scope and Contents

Articles clipped from local and national newsletters that document activities at the hospital as well as following national and international news on healthcare issues. The news clippings were compiled by the Community Relations staff into two separate sets of three-ring binders, described here as Scrapbooks and News Clippings.

The Scrapbook binders were labeled with numbers 2 through 18. Scrapbook 1, and 13-15 are missing. Although contents were arranged in roughly chronological order within each binder, the numbering of the binders does not reflect a strict chronological progression (for instance, news clippings from 1986 are found in both Scrapbook 6 and Scrapbook 17).

Scrapbooks, 1952-1992

Processing Information

Clippings were fastened to paper pages using clear plastic tape. We copied them onto standard (not archival) office paper and discarded the originals.
In many cases, where articles had been published in several local newspapers based on a news release from the Community Relations Department, multiple clippings were found stacked on top of each other on the page. The aim appears to have been to document how many publications picked up the story, rather than to preserve the content.

Since the published stories were not always identical, we tried to separate the stacked clippings and arrange them so that each could be read before copying them. In a few cases, removing the tape has also removed ink.

Also, original clippings that were larger than standard letter size paper were often folded in order to fit into the binders. In these cases, due to limitations of our photocopier, we needed to cut and rearrange the article in order to fit onto a standard letter size page.

Note

a few cases, photographs of events have been printed out in either black and white or color on standard office copier paper. Most of these emailed press releases were sent out by Janine DeCook, PR Specialist.
