SPECIAL EDITION: COVID-19 Treatment Research

Treatments for COVID-19 are an ongoing discussion in the medical community. New literature is being produced daily at an exponential rate. This brief list of articles are some of the many treatments currently under investigation. It is important to remember these articles can provide new insight, but have also been rushed through the traditional peer review process. To sign up for daily or weekly journal/search alerts, contact Werner Medical Library at wellness@rochesterregional.org.
