Humans Trafficking: Modern Day Slavery

In some of the latest statistics it is estimated that over 14,500 people are trafficked in the United States per year. In the U.S. thousands of foreign and U.S. citizens, many of them children, are forced into various forms of exploitation. Some of the forms of exploitation include sexual exploitation, slavery, the removal of organs, and servitude. Healthcare professionals, especially ED nurses and physicians play a crucial role in identifying these victims of human trafficking while they are still in captivity.
